Welcome to our FOURTH edition of The Antiques Tourist - bigger and better than ever!

I am delighted to introduce you to so many new supporters for our themed guide, which highlights the great antiques, vintage, retro and reclamation that we have to offer in Dorset, Devon and Somerset.

This edition is 48 pages - one third larger than last year. For dealers, browsers or nostalgia lovers, it is packed full of interesting opportunities for serious buyers, bargain hunters, or simply those seeking a holiday souvenir.

Explore the narrow lanes, towns and coastline of South Devon on pages 26 & 27. Follow our "Hardy" trail around central Dorset on pages 4 & 5. Learn about Somerset's willows and wetlands, on page 42.

Visit the businesses in our towns, villages, trading estates, and vintage quarters; take in the small shops run by enthusiastic and knowledgeable dealers; visit some of the large antiques and vintage centres, and reclamation yards around the region; book in the dates of some of our local antique fairs. Along the way pick up some bargains, but above all enjoy your time in our charming part of the South West.

In order to orientate yourself, go to the centre pages of The Antiques Tourist, which show a map of the 3 counties, with a helpful key.

The Antiques Tourist is also available online: www.theantiquestourist.com - with a mobile friendly version to download to your smart phone.

I really hope you find this year's edition of The Antiques Tourist of use - and fun!

Best wishes,
Anthony Bucke, Editor.

A TRAIL OF DISCOVERY THROUGH HARDY'S WESSEX

West Bay Harbour

Let us commence at Hardy's Port Bredy, (West Bay), the very pleasant seaside resort on The Jurassic Coast. Working boats still in the harbour, a thatched pub on the beach, and an eclectic mix of vintage, crafts and giftware at The Customs House, covering 3 floors of a historic bonded warehouse.

Drive one mile north to Bridport (The inland region of Hardy's Port Bredy). Head for the Vintage Quarter on the west side of town, behind the bus station. Here you will find a great collection of antiques, vintage and retro businesses dotted around in a variety of period premises. Don't miss Ruby in the Dust in St Michaels Lane! This area is most vibrant on market days - every Wednesday and Saturday, and during the monthly Sunday vintage markets.

Return to West Street for something more upmarket at Bridport Antiques. Some really stunning Victorian and earlier furniture; art, jewellery and silverware, all tastefully displayed in a light and airy showroom.

Now your Trail takes you inland 4 miles to Beaminster (Hardy's Emminster). As you enter the village, turn right and climb onto Toller Down. During the climb, take time to look back at the stunning views of The Jurassic Coast and English Channel - weather permitting!

Cross the A356 to Evershot (Hardy's Evershead). There is a great bakery tucked away amongst the cottages here. Continue to the A37, and turn right. Within 1 mile you will encounter The Wardon Hill Trading Post and Emporium. The emporium is home to a number of traders in art, collectables, gardenalia and furniture. Enjoy tea or coffee in the onsite cafe, and pick up some plants from their outdoor plant centre. The emporium is part of a larger complex, and home to a go-cart track and gunroom. Next door is a large modern hotel.

Rejoin the A37, and less than a mile further east, turn left towards Cerne Abbas (Hardy's Abbotts Cernel).

Passing Sydling St Nicholas on your right, there is a jolly water-splash at the bottom, before you climb the chalkland hills. Enroute to Cerne, pause on the top above the village to take in this view which has rapidly changed from the earlier coastal aspect. And what do you see on the horizon ahead? The Cerne Giant, of course.

Cerne Abbas

Cerne Abbas Giant

The Cerne Giant has prompted much discussion and speculation over the years, regarding his origins. The most obvious conclusion is that he was the subject of pagan rituals and worship, possibly to do with fertility and successful harvests. In 21st century Britain he is still a popular destination, and not least on May Day. Locals including The Wessex Morris Men arrive at dawn for their first dance on The Giant, before continuing to dance their way around Dorset for the remainder of May Day.

Go to the official Giant Viewpoint; stop at the village; or take one of the many local walks in and around this delightful part of hidden Dorset.

As our final destination is Casterbridge, there are 2 ways of driving there. Take the lower road via Nether Cerne, Godmanstone and Charminster. Or climb the hill to The Giants Head, and enjoy more views across the chalklands towards North Dorset and Cranborne Chase beyond, before turning south into Casterbridge via Charlton Down and the ancient Westleaze.

Casterbridge, or Dorchester, is full of history. Find the Hangmans Cottage adjacent to the gaol; look out for the statue of Dorset poet William Barnes; and the preserved Roman Town House. For your antiques part of the trail, take in Dorchester Curiosity Centre, a large centre on Grove Trading Estate; De Dannan Antiques Centre in London Road, and The Mews in Trinity Street.

This trail could easily take you a whole day!

BRIDPORT & WEST BAY

GATEWAY TO THE JURASSIC COAST

Not many towns can boast to having a twice weekly market, so many independent shops and antiques emporiums as Bridport but also the country's first Trading Estate.

In 1968, Hayward & Co purchased the 8 acres industrial site saving it from its demise. Now celebrating its 50th Anniversary, the St Michael's Trading Estate is not only a thriving trading & light industrial area but is also home to a bustling and active Art & Vintage Quarter.

With its vintage & antique shops, artist studios & galleries, probably the biggest vinyl record shop in the southwest and The Red Brick Café, The Art & Vintage Quarter is a major attraction for locals and visitors alike.

Added to this is the monthly Sunday Vintage Market when the Quarter blossoms with the influx of even more Antique & Vintage traders setting up their stalls.

When visiting the southwest of England, Bridport is a major destination for the antiques tourist.

Thomas Hardy

This famous "son of Dorset" was born in 1840 at Higher Bockhampton, just to the east of the County Town of Dorchester. Hardy started his working life as an architect, designing amongst other local buildings the Old Rectory at Hawkchurch. He also wrote in his spare time, and found literary success with "Far From The Madding Crowd", his 4th book. Earlier works included poetry, and "Domicilium" is a poem about his childhood and early life at Higher Bockhampton.

The breakthrough with "Far From The Madding Crowd" gave him financial success, and using his architectural experience he designed his new home, Max Gate, a handsome brick house with turrets on the edge of Dorchester, where he lived for the remainder of his life.

Max Gate is now owned by The National Trust, and open most days during the season.

Literary fans will remember his other best known books; Tess of The D'Urbevilles, The Mayor of Casterbridge; Return of The Native: and Jude the Obscure. Whilst they are all considered to be literary "greats", the theme of each centres on mis-fortune and personal tragedy, which may well be a fair representation of Victorian life.

There is a statue of Thomas Hardy near the Top o' Town Roundabout in Dorchester (Casterbridge).
